Ms. Torres,

I urge you to hold the corporate organic farmers to the same rules as everyone else. Organic cows must be able to graze freely in pasture. People who buy organic food are very serious about their health, which is why we pay premium prices for organic products. The huge corporations have already destroyed regular food, don't let them do it to organics. The American people have a right to pure food and drink if they choose to pay for it. I am tired of my body being a trash dump so they can make a buck. Please help people stay healthy.

Sincerely,
Pamela Miller
